APA Citation Style Examples

More examples may be found in the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (6th ed.). However, there may not always be a perfect example for a particular case. If appropriate examples cannot be found, consult the official style manual or an authoritative website and adapt from the closest examples you can find. It may be necessary to take ideas from separate examples to make a “hybrid” citation. Print copies of the various style manuals are located in the reference section of the library. Please ask a librarian for assistance. Below are two helpful websites on APA style.

Diana Hacker’s Research and Documentation – Social Sciences:  www.dianahacker.com/resdoc/
Purdue University:  http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/560/01/

Print Book with Multiple Authors (and an edition)

Print Book with Multiple Editors

Chapter from an Edited Print Book

Electronic Version of a Print Book

Electronic-only Book (with no date)

Scholarly Journal Article (print version)

Scholarly Journal Article (with eight or more authors and a DOI)

Note: For eight or more authors, include the names of the first six, then insert three ellipses, and add the last author’s name. The DOI (Digital Object Identifier) is a unique number assigned to provide a persistent link to the article’s location on the Web.
Scholarly Journal Article (without a DOI)

Note: The Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, 6th edition, says: “If there is no DOI assigned and the reference was retrieved online, give the URL of the journal home page.” For more information on DOIs, go to: http://blog.apastyle.org/files/doi-and-url-flowchart-8.pdf

Scholarly Journal Article from the Web

Popular Magazine Article (print version)

Popular Magazine Article from the Web

Newspaper Article (print version)

Newspaper Article from the Web

Journal, Magazine, or Newspaper Article from an Article Database

Note: Cite the article as usual without including the name of the article database. APA does not require the name of the database in which the article is found.

Website (with no date)

Yale University. (n.d.). Yale Parenting Center. Retrieved from http://childconductclinic.yale.edu/research

Note: Retrieval dates should not be included unless the source material may change over time.

Page from a Website (with corporate author)

Blog Post